Pickup/Delivery

Purpose

I work at a thrift store where we pickup donations and deliver furniture people buy. Currently, this scheduling process is done manually.

I aim to eliminate a lot of the headaches that come with said manual scheduling:

Advantages

- Repeat customers' information is easily retrieved.
- Easily view what's already scheduled to make future scheduling easier.
- Required information cannot be skipped.
- Each scheduled thing is associated automatically with who scheduled it.
- Information can be accessed by all relevant parties—schedulers, drivers, managers, etc.

Home Page (logged in)
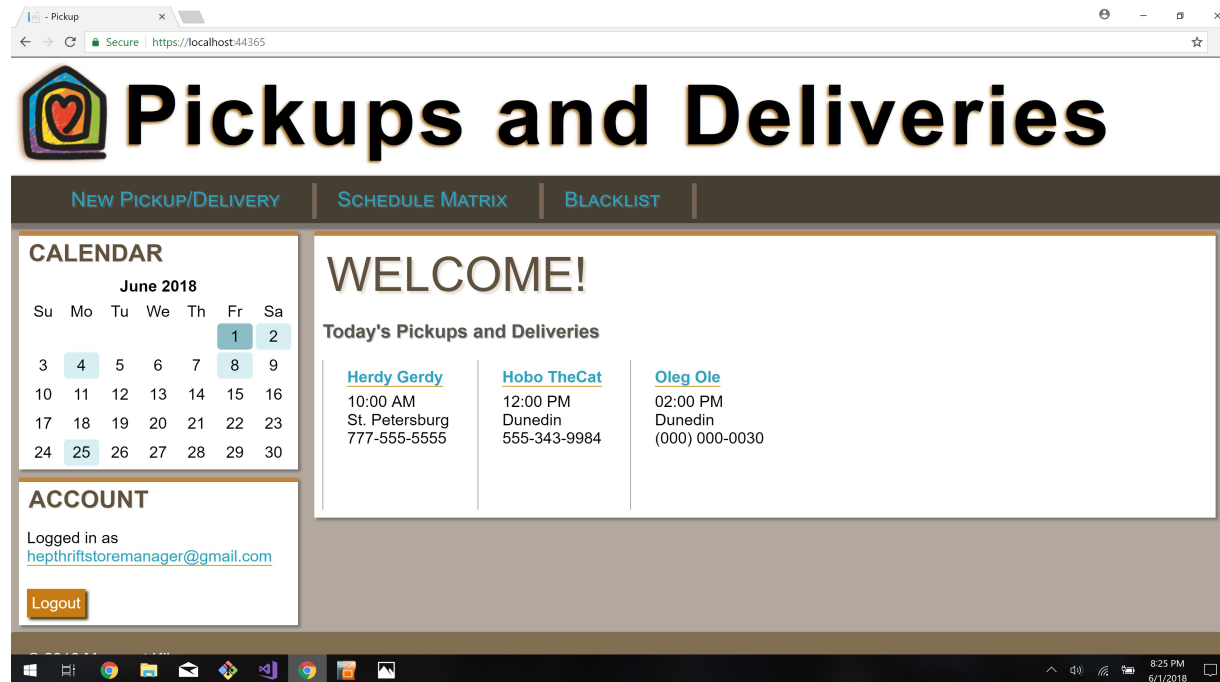

The home page shows the pickups/deliveries for the day. From anywhere in the app you can view a calendar that's color coded based on how many things are scheduled for easy reference. You can also access account information.

Blacklist

Sadly, this feature is needed. When a scheduler enters a person's information (name and first phone #), the blacklist is checked for an entry so they don't inadvertently schedule such a person.
